

Green fingers with a personal touch

To work with heart and soul at the rooting of cuttings, that is what you expect from us. You want your plants to size. Exactly to your specifications, seamlessly linking up with your cultivation process. Conifers, shrubs and Heathers - Ergon gives them added value.

Together we can complete this pro- cess

Customer friendly and custom made

In collaboration with you we work towards the result that the consumer expects of your product. What you however find at Ergon, apart from anything else, is a different approach to the usual customer supplier-relationship. For us you are not only a customer, but above all a cultivating colleague.

This special 'colleague customer' relationship gives you and commercial nurseries in the Netherlands and abroad.

extra added value. We think along with you, project ourselves into your activities and goals, we know what you are talking about and we can therefore produce the cuttings and plants precisely to size and according to your wishes. Ready to pot, free of weeds and pots, trimmed or not, you tell us: you will receive the material as it suits you best for your style of business.

Quantity and quality

Scale size and specialization are important success factors for our fellow-nurseries and for commercial nurseries here and abroad; customers are asking for larger volumes and good quality. Ergon can fulfill these requirements completely. On the one hand we can offer you, as one of the larger nurseries of cuttings and young plants, all flexibility with regards to production quantities. On the other hand we can guarantee a quality that you can rely on and build on. Ergon has all the required facilities and tools at its disposal, but also has the employees who will put one hundred percent effort into their jobs for you.

Ergon introduces new Berberis

Ergon already has a broad range of Berberis young plants. We introduce three new Berberis cultivars onto the market. The plants have been bred by Maria and Janusz Szewczyk of Krzywaczka, Poland. PBR protection has been applied for.

Qualified and motivated

Your cuttings and plants are in good hands with our employees. They are professional, qualified, experienced and extremely motivated to deliver work that fulfills your requirements and wishes. Our ISO and MPS-A certifications prove this. Ergon employees see themselves as an extension of your company and are happy to take over the labour intensive cutting and planting section of your production process. With heart and soul, focused on quality, reliable deliveries and care for nature and the environment.

With kind regards,
